Visitation

The RAF Cultural Tourism Accelerator will support additional marketing and promotional activity to target increased visitation. Activities can encourage any type of visitation: local, day trip, overnight, weekend, extended visit and/or connecting a visit across regions.

What is visitation? How much should it increase?

'Visitation' means physical attendance by anyone from outside the postcode of the activity. They might be from the neighbouring village or from the opposite side of the country. They can be a day tripper or an overnight visitor.

The target increase should be in scale with the scope of the initiative and budget. Your aim should be realistic, achievable, and measurable.

How will visitation be measured?

Applicants should design visitation measurement as part of their application. Applicants will be required to collect data supporting the effectiveness of their initiative. This could include engagement with social media, participation, attendance by postcode.

In addition, each recipient will assist in a national survey co-ordinated by RAA and be required to collect a minimum of 30 responses from visitors. These can be collected in situ or post event. This survey will provide deeper insights into visitation, reasons for visitation and the importance of arts and cultural activity when choosing to travel.

How many additional visitors do you hope to attract? *
